The above refers.

1. All relevant programmes and plans forming part of the project must be subject to monitoring.
2. A method of communication should be implemented whereby procedures to lodge complaints are set out for the local community to express any complaints or grievances with the construction process.

3. The ablution / sanitary facilities provided at the construction site must conform to all relevant health and safety standards and codes.

The facilities must be regularly serviced and appropriately maintained to reduce the risk of surface or groundwater pollution.

All site staff must make use of supplied ablution facilities and under no circumstances must indiscriminate sanitary activities be allowed.

4. All waste generated on site during construction should be stored in waste bins and removed from site on a regular basis.
5. Vehicles carrying material that can be wind-blown should be covered with a suitable material.
6. Water provision to the property should comply with SANS 241:2015 standards for domestic use.

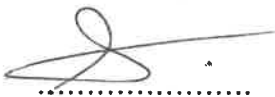

Water must be used sparingly and reused, recycled or treated where possible.

7. Steps must be taken to ensure that littering by workers does not occur and persons should be employed on site to collect litter from the site and immediate surroundings, including litter accumulating at fence lines, etc.
8. During the construction phase, any potential health hazards caused by certain conditions or activities must be reported to the Municipal Health Services, Community Services Department, Garden Route District Municipality.

This Municipal Health Services office, if deemed necessary, reserves the right to set further requirements.
